Hard work and intellect
you don't need for success!!!

They do help, but it's not the key.

Soft skills - are essential to get what you want from life.

1. Curiosity

It helps you to think out of the box. To notice what others don't see. It's a natural skill that every child has. You need to stop limiting yourself with "is it practical?" or "my question sounds weird."

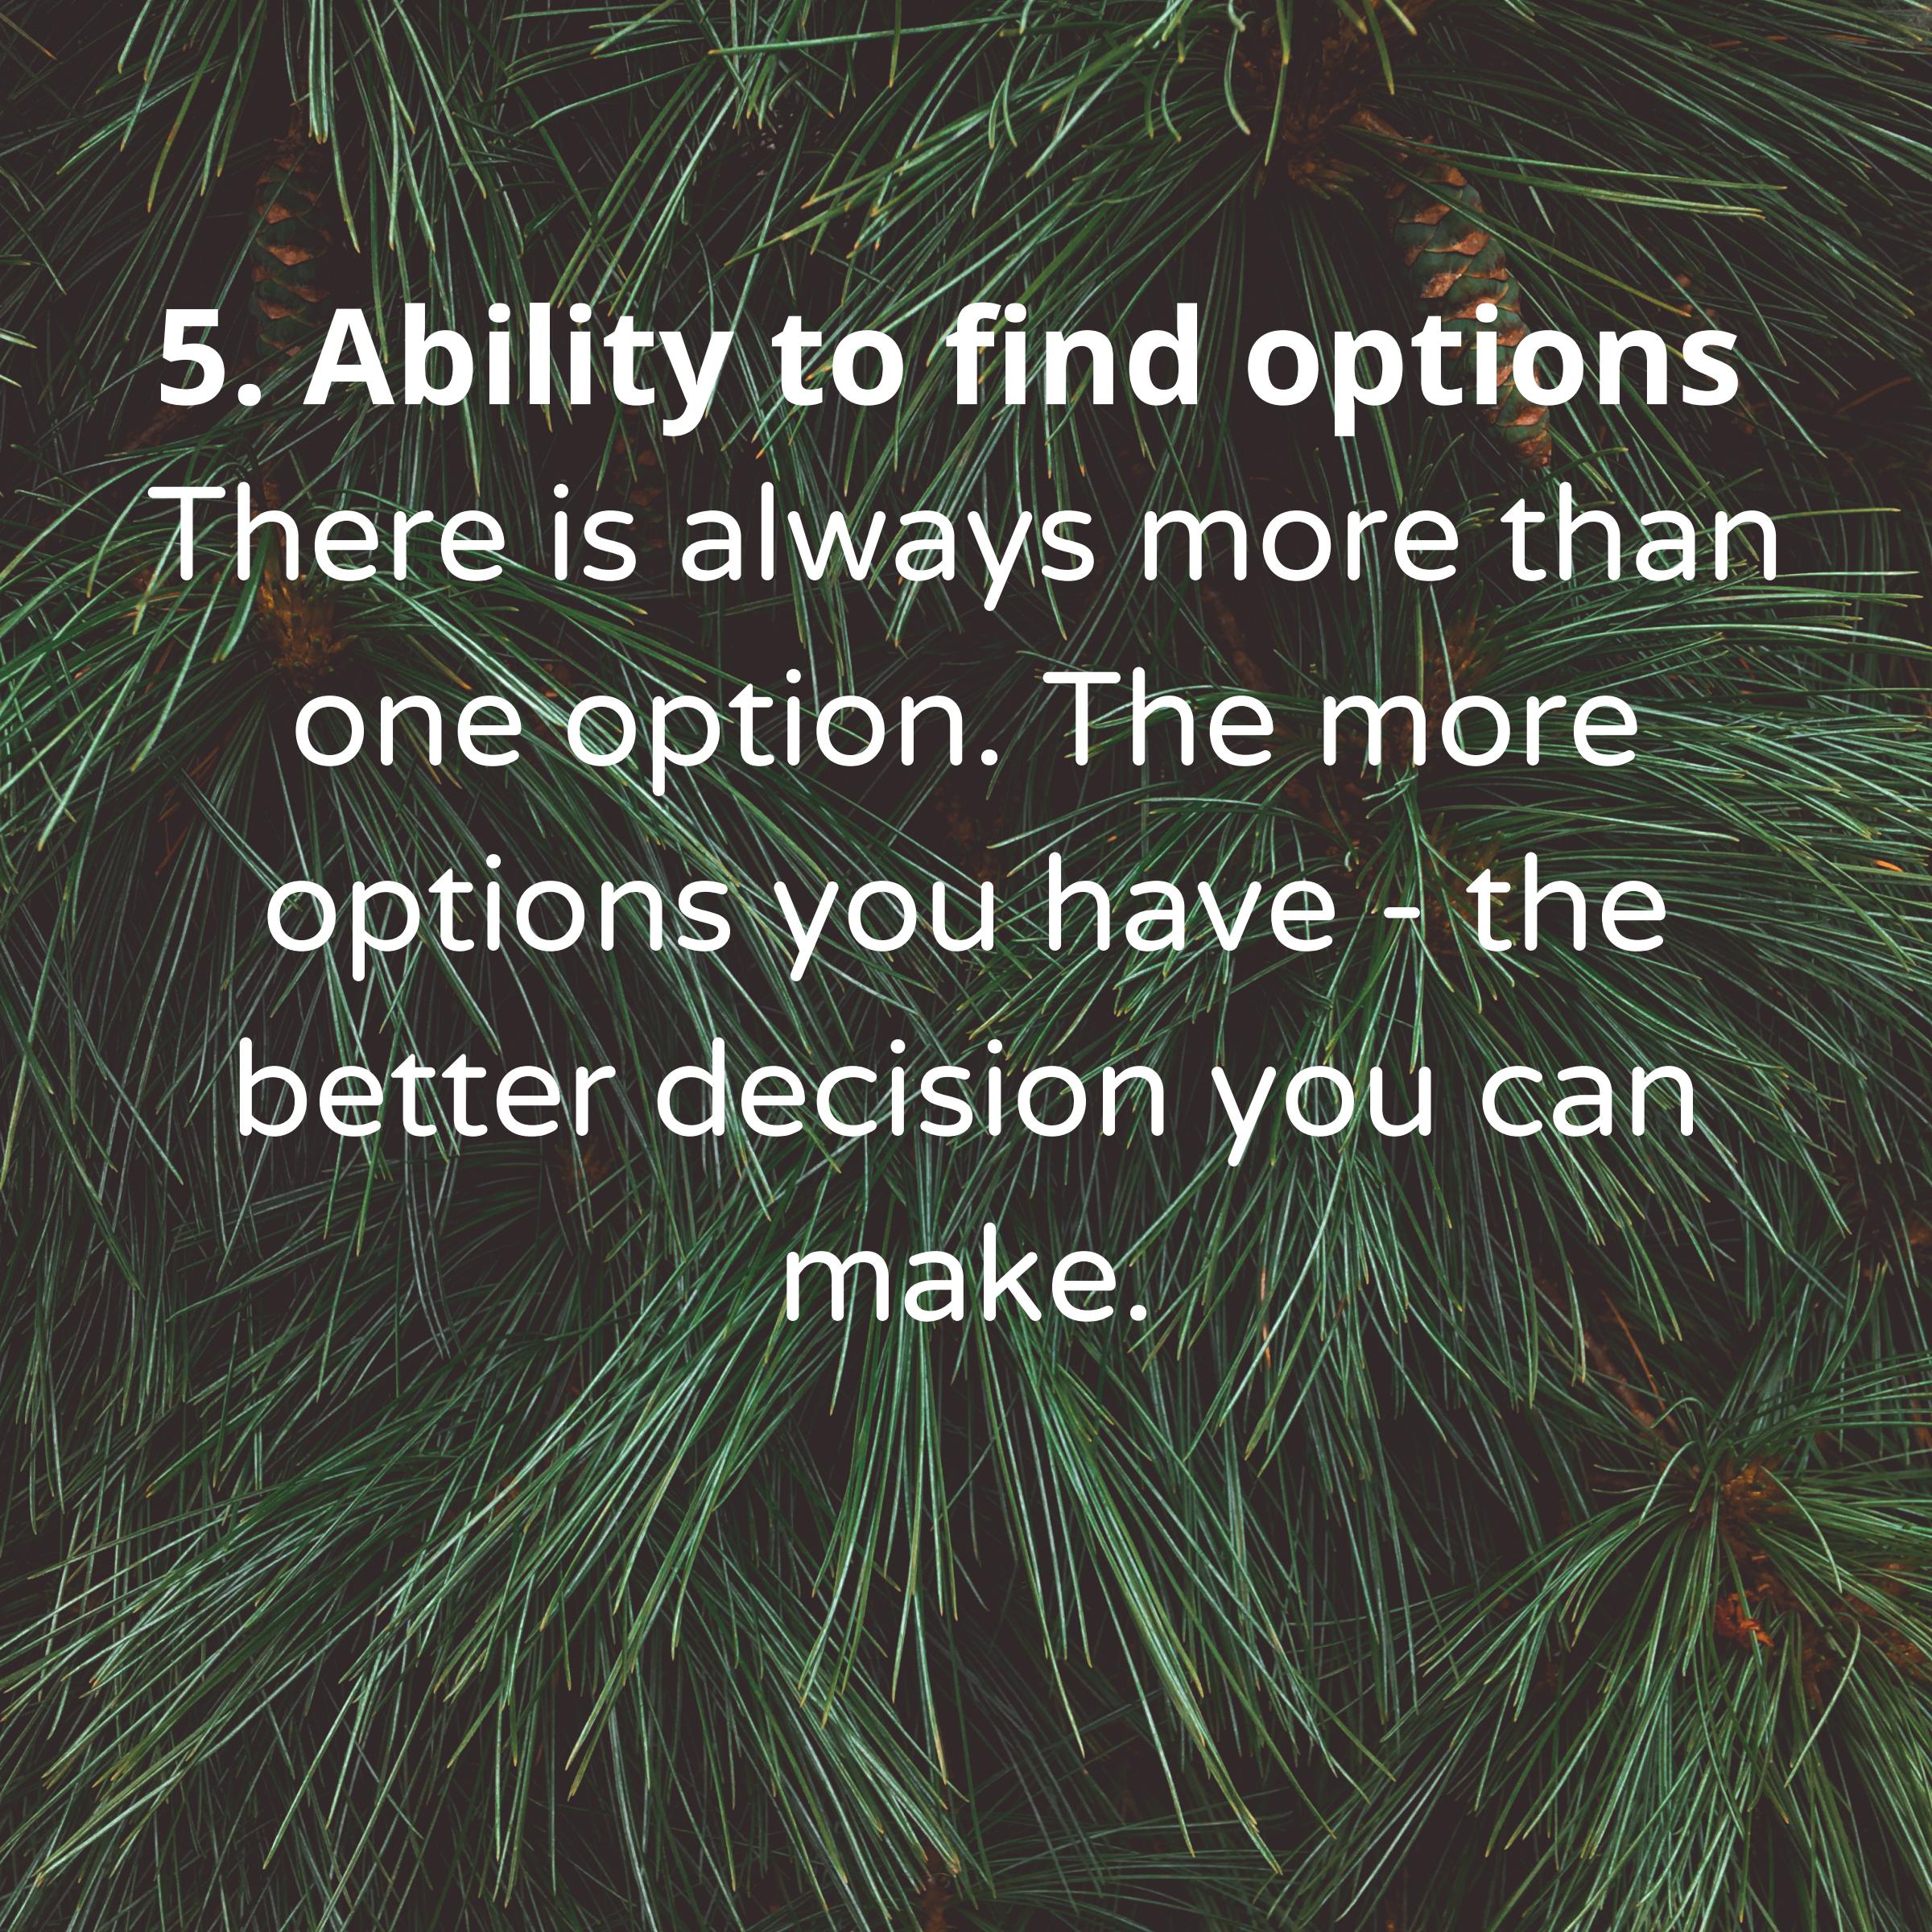

2. Quick learning

The world is changing so fast right now. You can't learn something and rely solely on it your whole life. Professions are changing and dying. New practical things appear. Learn to learn quicker.

3. Commitment

You should be able to stick to your goals. You would have good and bad days, and commitment will steer you through that.

4. Prioritization
You need to recognize what is most important right now. You need to revise your priorities often.

5. Ability to find options

There is always more than one option. The more options you have - the better decision you can make.

6. Adaptability

The situation changes often. New ideas, new people, new facts, new limitations. The sooner you adopt - the sooner you rip off better results.

7. Critical thinking

You need to see causal relations. You need to know how your actions might affect the future.

You need to be able to identify what caused a specific result.

8. Mistakes analysis

The more mistakes you make, the more experience you gain. But only if you can analyze your mistakes. This is how you grow.

9. Self-awareness

You need to know and feel yourself. What is your best fit? What should you avoid? What are your strengths and weaknesses? How can you leverage that?

10. Patience
Forget about overnight success. It comes with time. To survive during that time you need to be patient.
